Large blocks of U. S. Steel turned over after the opening and other steels followed its advance. Buying spread throughout the market, even to the automobile section.

Opening slowly the market generated activity until tickers were unable to keep pace. Large blocks of the packing issues appeared at new highs. Rails held or added to their gains of Saturday. Utilities were steady to firm. Oils and coppers were better.

Wilson opened 8,000 shares at a new high at 11 1/2 up 1/4, and Armour 5,000 at 11 1/2 up 1/4, also a new high. Wilson was active and extended its gain to more than a point. Armour increased its advance.

DIRECTOR QUILTS BUSINESS MEN PUMPKIN SHOW PROTEST LEVY

Harry Steinhauer Gives Up Fancy, Art, Flower Work in Note to Mayor

Mayor W. J. Graham, ill at his home with a heavy cold, was confronted with "Pumpkin Show" troubles Monday after Harry L. Steinhauer, director of the fancy work, fine arts and flower sections of the show, resigned.

Mr. Steinhauer has served as a director for two years. His resignation was mailed Sunday to Mayor Graham, president ex officio of the organization.

The action was necessitated because it requires too much time from his work, Mr. Steinhauer said Monday.

Another problem facing the mayor and the other show directors was the salary for the secretary, Mack Parrett, who has been serving efficiently in that role, has been receiving $120 annually.

He believes this amount is too small. At the meeting last week Mr. Parrett declined re-election until the pay question is adjusted.

MURKY WEATHER IS BLAMED FOR DEATHS OF FOUR

GOLD SAND, N. C., Feb. 8.—(UP)—A plane crash which killed three men and a young woman was blamed today on murky weather that sent a speeding Waco cabin ship groping downward so low that it struck treetops and hurtled to the ground.

The victims: Pilot C. H. Betz, Arthur S. Conn and D. L. Breen, all of Akron, O., and Miss Caroline Danley, of Miami, Fla. All were killed instantly.

Betz took off at Miami yesterday morning with the other two men on a business trip to Akron. At Jacksonville, Fla., they reportedly picked up Miss Danley.

The plane lost its battle with fog and low-hanging clouds and fell within a few feet of a residence in this small farm community.

TAX, WAGE LAWS IGNORED

Orders Delayed 45 Minutes After Usual Start

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(UP)

Speculation on the possible impending resignation of some member or members of the Supreme Court received impetus today when the tribunal, apparently under some tension, failed to act on controversial cases on its docket.

The feeling of unusual events was strong in the courtroom as the high tribunal made its first public appearance since President Roosevelt announced his plan calling for virtual reorganization of the court.

Minor Rulings Made

The impression was strengthened by a strange and seemingly inexplicable circumstance.

The court orders, presenting court decisions on pleas that it hear various cases were delayed 45 minutes. When at last they were distributed today they carried decisions on only a few small and unimportant cases.

No word was mentioned of the pleas for rehearing of the New York unemployment insurance case, the Washington minimum wage law or on the attack on the "windfall tax" provision of the 1936 revenue bill.

President Seeks Judicial Action

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(UP)—President Roosevelt was represented today as desirous of quick congressional approval of his judicial reform program so that new NRA-type labor legislation and substitute AAA legislation can be enacted.

Intimate White House sources explained that Mr. Roosevelt felt it was futile for congress to attempt substitute legislation in the NRA and AAA fields until the judicial reform measure has been passed.

This picture of Mr. Roosevelt's views was presented as the White House announced that chairmen of the house and senate judiciary committees had been summoned to confer with the president.

They will discuss methods of expediting the judicial legislation through congress. The call for the White House conference was issued as the senate judiciary committee convened for a preliminary examination of the presidential program.

SEASON'S FIRST DUST SWEEPING SEVERAL STATES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 8.—(UP)—Black dust clouds rolled across the western parts of Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas today blasting hopes for wheat crops in the worst dust storm since last summer.

A 40-miles-an-hour wind picked up the dust from the Texas Panhandle and drove it eastward past Oklahoma City and Wichita, Kansas. Farmers feared it was the prelude to another siege of the smothering storms which have buried crops under blowing sand and silt throughout the nation's "dust bowl" for the last few years.

The storm was worst in the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles. Visibility was reduced to only a few feet at Boise City in the Oklahoma panhandle. Half-mile visibility was reported from Amarillo, Tex., to Waynoka in Western Oklahoma. It was little over a mile here.

SENATE, HOUSE PREPARE TO ACT ON F.D.R.'S BILL

Foes of Judiciary Reform Program Want to Split Administration Plan

ASHURST CALLS SOLONS

Van Nuys to Seek Opinions of Court Members

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(UP)—Opponents of President Roosevelt's judiciary reform program maneuvered today to split the administration bill and force a separate vote in the senate reconstruction of the Supreme Court. Coincident with beginning of a week of tense New Deal arguments within the white-pillared Supreme Court building, Chairman Henry F. Ashurst called his senate judiciary committee together for probable preliminary consideration of the plan. The house committee will take up the judiciary proposals at a closed meeting tomorrow. Congressional leaders checking the trend of one of the most significant constitutional controversies in many years reported that favorable action on the administration bill was expected eventually in both committees.

Early Approval in House

Veteran legislators believed administrators strength would gain quick house approval of the entire program but that a long battle was certain in the senate with present signs favoring a New Deal victory over the opposition of a bloc of Democratic and Republican foes of what they charge is "tampering" with the high court. Sen. Frederick Van Nuys, D., Ind., member of the judiciary committee, definitely joined the opposition bloc and announced he would propose in committee that sections of the bill permitting an increase of possibly six in the membership of the court be separated from provisions for general federal court reform.

"I do not favor the president's method of approaching the problem," Van Nuys said. "I believe that if change is to be made it should be done through a constitutional amendment." Van Nuys will insist that congress seek the views of court members on the reform plan.

Van Nuys' proposal to split the bill, which the White House was expected to oppose, climaxed a week-end of swift developments that spread the controversy from the halls of congress to every state in the nation. They included:

Norris Doubtful

1. Plans of Sen. George W. Norris, Ind., Neb., a "doubter" of the wisdom of the Roosevelt plan, to go ahead with arrangements for a meeting of prominent men and women here March 15 for a national conference of constitutional amendments. It was believed that the conference might vie with the senate chamber as a forum for debate on the conflict between the executive branch and the judiciary. The meeting will survey methods of adjusting powers between the legislatures and the courts.

2. Sen. Josiah Bailey, D., N. C., joined the coalition bloc opposing the president's plan with a statement that he "inexpressibly" regretted the proposal and believed it would do the president irreparable injury.

In addition to most of the senate's Republicans, a group of Democrats headed by Carter Glass of Virginia, William H. King of Utah, Harry Byrd of Virginia, Edward R. Burke of Nebraska and Ryan Duffy of Wisconsin have expressed opposition, while at least a third of the senate has withheld decision on the plan.

3. Republican strategists, including minority leader Charles McNary, Sen. William E. Borah of Idaho, and Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, met informally and discussed methods for opposing the Supreme Court change, which Vandenberg termed an effort to "pack" the high tribunal. They gave no indication of their plans, but elsewhere it was understood that the Republicans plan to delay their attack pending further developments in the split in Democratic ranks.

4. Republican National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton, in a speech at Pittsburgh, called on the party to rally to "protect the constitution" and asserted that the president sought to enlarge the court "in order that his policies may be imposed on our people by justice tacitly pledged to that end before they are appointed."

5. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, former NRA administrator, assailed foes of the plan as representing "the anguished beatings of Old Deal tom-toms by gentlemen who didn't want to see the president elected and who would 'very much like' to see him prevented from carrying out his campaign promises."

REMOVAL OF NRS OFFICE UP FOR COUNCIL ACTION

LANCASTER, Feb. 8.—Council will probably consider a suggestion by Tom Cox, county commissioner, that the National Re-employment Service office be transferred from the courthouse to the marketplace, when it meets Monday night.

Removal of the office from the courthouse has been asked because of the cramped space in the building. If satisfactory arrangements cannot be worked out in Lancaster to provide space for the office it may be transferred to Circleville.

NRS officials are reported opposed to their transfer to the marketplace.

WELFARE CHIEF ACTS TO ALTER BOYS' SCHOOL

Mrs. Allman Would Limit
Lancaster Institution to Boys Under 16

NOW IN COURTS' HANDS

Probations May Be Denied
Until County Can Help

COLUMBUS, Feb. 8.—State Welfare Director Margaret M. Allman announces that she will seek new legislation which would make the Boy's Industrial School at Lancaster an institution where only juvenile delinquents under 16 years of age would be committed except those convicted of murder.

The contemplated legislation, which would amend existing laws in regard to the commitment of juvenile delinquents, would make it mandatory for convicted youths 16 years of age and over to be sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory for Men.

As the law now stands, it is within the discretion of the sentencing court whether convicted juvenile 16 and over shall be sent to Mansfield or the Boys' Industrial School. This holds true in all cases except boys convicted of murder who are sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary.

Aid Younger Inmates

The intent of the proposed legislation is to enable younger inmates at the Boys' Industrial School, a better opportunity to rehabilitate themselves by segregating them from older boys. It would also facilitate the administration of the vocational guidance procedure of the institution, permitting officials at the school a better opportunity to handle the more youthful inmates.

Should the proposed legislation fail, Mrs. Allman said that she might consider the possibility of changing the character of the Lancaster institution from that of a vocational guidance institution to a strict reformatory. She added, however, that the possibility of such a change is very remote.

At the Boys' school, the inmates are taught vocations in an endeavor to rehabilitate the boys. Little penal procedure is injected in the proceedings of the institution, the stress being on vocational guidance.

Mrs. Allman also stated that she might suggest that probations granted youthful criminals be abandoned unless counties have adequate personnel and organization to carry out the intent of probations.

STATE BANKERS GATHER FRIDAY FOR CONFERENCE

COLUMBUS, Feb. 8.—More than 500 Ohio bankers will gather in Columbus, Friday, February 12, for the annual mid-winter meeting of the Ohio Bankers Association, Joseph H. Warndorf, of Hamilton, president of the organization, announced today. The bankers will spend the day in studying the banking business, since the date is a legal holiday—Lincoln's Birthday.

Prof. Edison Bower, of Ohio State University, will address the morning session and preside at a discussion of the Social Security Act.

During the afternoon, Dr. Ralph E. Badger, president Investment Counsel, Incorporated, Detroit, and C. W. Bailey, president, First National Bank, Clarksville, Tenn., will speak.

Dr. Badger will speak on "Investment Policies for Banks" and Bailey will talk on the importance of banking in community affairs. Officers of the association, in addition to Mr. Warndorf, are: vice-president, H. L. Wilson, cashier, Citizens National Bank, Sidney; treasurer, J. C. McHannan,

College Students Now Organized In Order to Publish Own Songs

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 8.—If you should visit college campuses these days and find that charming co-eds and college youths no longer are singing the praises of Alma Mater — there's a reason.

The collegians are writing and singing their own songs. And they are getting them published, too! You see, college students now have their own organization—the Intercollegiate Music League—to "introduce, record, publish, plug, and have performed over the radio" the best works of their fellow songwriters, who are known as associates.

"We are seeking to establish the college song writer in his legitimate position as a factor in the world of music," points out Bernard A. Young, of Boston, graduate of Harvard college and Harvard Law School, who is president of the national organization.

Acts as Agent

"The league will act chiefly in the capacity of a legitimate and authorized agency and broker for submitting songs to certain publishers who are members of the American Society of Composers. The necessary contacts and connections with certain members of the society have already been made and arrangements completed for such a program."

Honorary sponsors of the program include such band leaders as Isham Jones, Leo Reisman, Xavier Cugat, Little Jack Little and Lud Gluskin, Young declared.

The profit-sharing bureau, which has the endorsement of college deans throughout the United States, will "provide an outlet for music creations of college men and women—and other young composers," organization officials say.

"Pull" Necessary

"It is impossible at present," they add, "for a young composer to sell his music unless he has a 'pull'. The league will provide an outlet for more than 5,000 college students all over the country.

To handle the voluminous correspondence from more than 525 colleges and universities, the league has hired Miss Evelyn O'Neal, graduate of Boston Teachers' college, as executive secretary.

Mr. Young, the president, adds: "Our plan is to have all manuscripts sorted and examined and those deemed suitable submitted to certain leading orchestra leaders. We expect to have thousands of manuscripts within a short time. One college student in the west has written that he has more than 200 compositions which he would like to submit."

Music by the Yard

"We know that at present much of our American music is being 'made by the yard.' Individuality, true creative power in our music, is being lost. Music that we now hear is written by 'day workers' paid to write certain kinds of music. We feel that the true American spirit is being jazzed and churned out of all musical renditions. The league aims to help remedy this deplorable situation."

"We have contacted deans in all the leading colleges, and have their written approval of our plan. Our plan provides that the composer, when his music is found marketable, pay the league ten per cent of the commissions he may receive."

"Each associate, however, shares annually in the net profits of the league whether that associate has had a song published during the year or not."

"Standard uniform popular songwriters contracts are given to successful composers."

"All receipts derived by the league through its various activities are placed into the common pool and calculated in the annual distribution to its associates."

Officials explain that approximately 30,000 manuscripts are copyrighted annually at the United States copyright office, and that at least 10,000 persons are actively engaged in writing the nation's songs. Only a comparative few songs become overnight hits and these usually are written by a small group of top-notch writers.

"I think I have had pretty good success at coon hunting this last season," William Pettibone said the other morning when making the rounds on his ice delivery. "Twenty-one fine coon, hides and many opossum aren't so bad for one season," he continued.

He told us the coon carcass went readily at a dollar and a prime hide at around five and a half. Opossum pelts bring only about thirty-five cents. "The possum meat is fine" people don't seem to want it anymore and there is no sale for the once luxury.

Granges to Meet The Scioto Valley Grange will be host to the Pomona grange people next Saturday, February 13.

Kennel for Real Dog "These fancy and substantial pickets we are saving out are for a real dog kennel for real dogs and not of just the ordinary Ashville kind," said Harry Fridley at the Hedges lumber yard, recently. "No we can't tell you who they are for" he continued.

Mrs. VanVickle III Mrs. Ada VanVickle is quite sick. She is being cared for by Mrs. Merl Smith at the home of E. A. Snyder.

To Occupy New Home The new, to them, farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Baum is being modernized and made ready for occupancy. They will remove from their present location, the W. C. Baum homestead, to the new location, near by, soon after their sale, next Thursday, February 11.

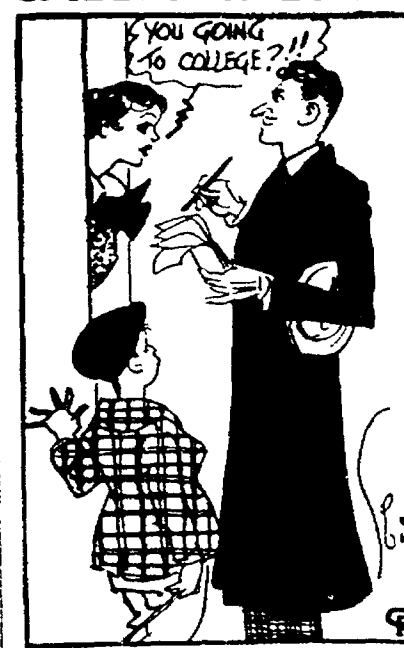

Taking Business Course Earl Boyer along with his work at Ralston's, is taking a business training course at one of the Columbus Business colleges.

Route Purchased Robert Hoover has purchased the Circleville Daily Herald agency for Ashville, from William Arthur, Robert now being the only carrier for the Herald in Ashville. "The very best service possible will be given to his patrons," Bob says.

three brothers died of the disease and their bodies were cast overboard into the sea. When the four brothers, who had escaped the cholera scourge, landed at Philadelphia they were bound out by the ship captain, were separated and did not find each other until they were grown and married. This same Rev. Joseph Roof served the Lutheran congregation at Circleville in 1834 and this same year founded the St. Paul church in Madison township. In a later item will give a short sketch of Martin L. Roof known to many of us in the Ashville community. "Mart" was an unusual person, sunshining, with an unlimited supply of stories to fit any occasion.

Eleanor Luellen And Raymond French Wed

Home in Williamsport Scene of Quiet Ceremony

At a wedding of quiet simplicity, Miss Eleanor Luellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Luellen, of Williamsport, became the bride of Mr. Raymond C. French, of New Holland, Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock at the home of her parents.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Brance Johnson and Miss Mary Radcliffe, with Miss Margaret Dunlap furnishing sympathetic accompaniments. Mrs. Johnson sang "O Perfect Love," "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly," while Miss Radcliffe's numbers were "O Promise Me" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

The mantle piece in the living room was banked with greenery. In the center of the shelf was a bowl of beautiful yellow jonquils. At either end of the shelf, tall white tapered candles in five-branched candelabra. White tapers were interspersed with the greenery forming an improvised altar.

Before this, the single ring service was read by the Rev. D. H. Householder, of Williamsport. The bride approached the altar to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Dunlap, who played softly throughout the ceremony.

Miss Luellen was most attractive in her Empire wedding dress of aqua blue silk net with seed pearl trimming, made low in the neck, and floor length. She wore a bandeau of braided net and seed pearls around her hair and carried an arm bouquet of yellow orchids, roses, sweetpeas, forget-me-nots and budlia.

Miss Alice Tipton served as maid-of-honor. She wore an Empire dress fashioned of black taffeta, and wore a corsage of sweetpeas, roses and forget-me-nots. Mr. Grimes Kahler, of New Holland, was best man.

An informal reception followed the ceremony at the Luellen home. Ice cream, wedding cake and coffee were served. Immediately after the reception, Mr. and Mrs. French left for their furnished apartment in Wilmington where they will make their home for the present.

Mrs. French is a graduate of Williamsport high school and Wilmington college. She also attended Ohio State university. Recently she has been employed as a teacher in the schools of Galena, Ohio.

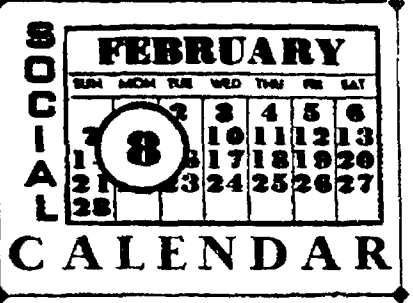

Mr. French is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Webber French of New Holland, and is a graduate of New Holland high school. He attended Columbus Art School and later graduated from Ohio State university. He is now art supervisor for Clinton county centralized schools.

Attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Webber French, Mrs. Charles Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Charles French, Weldon Timmons and Paul Lininger, New Holland; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson, Paul Zimmerman, and Mrs. Pearl Longshore, of Galena; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Luellen and daughter Evelyn, Miss Garnet Zimmerman, Columbus; Mrs. Everett Stocklen, Circleville; Misses Mary Anderson, Virginia Smith, Helen West, Betty McGhee, Martha Tipton, Margaret Dunlap, Mrs. Fred Tipton, Mrs. Brance Johnson, Miss Alice Tipton, Rev. Chic Turban Is Made Of Paper

YOU CAN tie you head in a bandanna or wear a visor cap when you golf at Palm Beach, Miami, St. Petersburg, Fla., or at Palm Springs, Cal. But when you go to lunch or shopping you need a dressy hat—not too tailored.

This clever little chapeau, which was designed by Jean King, is—believe it or not—white paper straw braid molded turbanwise, and is both cool and striking.

Awfully smart, too, is the petit-point bag from Madame Jolles of Vienna. These bags may be chosen in colors to complement or contrast those of your costume.

PURDUE NEEDS VICTORY OVER MINNESOTA TO GAIN TIE FOR LEAD

TOUGH SCHEDULE STILL AHEAD OF BOILERMAKER '5'

Ohioans Turned Aside by Gophers; Buckeyes to Meet Wisconsin

CHICAGO, Feb. 8 — (UP) — Purdue jumps back into the Big Ten basketball race tonight with its first comeback bid for the lead against the number one spoiler of the conference — Minnesota.

In the most significant of four league games, the improved Gophers will attempt to halt the Boilermakers just as they did Ohio State in its battle for a first place tie with Illinois Saturday night.

Northwestern meets Iowa City, Chicago plays at Indiana and Ohio State meets Wisconsin at Madison in the other three games. Illinois does not play.

Meets Illinois Feb. 15
With a difficult schedule still ahead, Purdue must whip Minnesota to continue its basketball reign for the fourth straight year. A victory would place the Boilermakers in a tie for first place and set the stage for the battle of the year Feb. 15, when the Boilermakers clash at Illinois.

Despite their high position in the conference standings, the Gophers were conceded small chance of halting Purdue. The tightest defense in the league — less than 21 points a game have been scored by opponents — may cause Purdue trouble but a weak Gopher attack likely will not keep pace with the Boilermakers.

Ohio State, stopped cold by Minnesota, 31 to 14, should strengthen its fourth place position against Wisconsin which already has lost four of five conference games. Both teams have had offensive troubles, but the Bucks, with a defense that ranked with Minnesota's until Saturday night, will be the favorite.

Neither Northwestern nor Iowa can cause much of a flurry in the second division. With three defeats, Northwestern virtually was counted out of the race despite its supposedly easy schedule. Iowa's good showing against Indiana Saturday night — losing 38 to 34 — made this a toss-up.

A new threat rose from Chicago, which snapped Loyola's 19-game victory chain Saturday night. The Hoosiers may be pressed hard. They were an easy victim for Loyola.

RITTMAN STAR SCORES FIFTY AGAINST FOE

RITTMAN, Feb. 8 — (UP) — Ward Yarnman, star forward of the Rittman high school basketball team, today placed scoring record on the block and challenged all comers to attempt to equal it.

Yarnman in a game over the week-end against Orrville high school scored 50 points as his team gained a 61 to 41 triumph. As he piled up his scoring record, Yarnman dropped in 19 field goals and 12 fouls.

BASEBALL TITLE SOUGHT

Sports Council Seeks Hunting, Fishing Ideas

COLUMBUS, Feb. 8—Ohio's Conservation Council probably will hold a large public hearing at the state capital late in the Spring for the purpose of gathering information and opinions from sportsmen of the State relative to proposed rules and regulations for hunting and fishing.

SPORTING CLUB MOVES TO PIT CHAMPION, LOUIS

CHICAGO, Feb. 8—(UP)—Officials of the Sporting Club of Illinois, co-promoters of the proposed heavyweight title fight between Champion Jimmy Braddock and Bomber Joe Louis, sought today to iron out the kinks which prevented Braddock from signing as scheduled.

Matchmaker Joe Foley said he had dispatched a query regarding rental of Soldier Field, site demanded by Joe Gould, the champion's manager. When the Sporting Club indicated it wanted to stage the bout at Comiskey Park, Gould refused to sign.

Foley said the fight would stay in Chicago, despite the request of John Roxborough, co-manager of Louis, that it be shifted to Detroit.

"The request is absolutely ridiculous," Foley said. "This bout was acquired by Chicago men for Chicago and that's where it will stay."

STATE BOASTING NO UNDEFEATED COURT QUINTETS

COLUMBUS, Feb. 8—(UP)—For the first time during the current scholastic year, Ohio today was without an undefeated collegiate combine in a major sport.

The powerful Western Reserve team went through the last football season undefeated and until the past week-end another Cleveland school, Case, had kept a victory string intact in basketball.

Case, after six consecutive triumphs, was toppled from the perfect record rank Saturday by a great Ohio University quintet 45 to 36.

Although beaten by the Bobcats, Case's hold on the lead in the Ohio conference was not affected.

The Clevelanders have won four consecutive conference triumphs, capped by their victory Friday over Muskingum. When beaten by Case it marked the first time since the campaign was inaugurated that the Muskies had not been in the role of pace setter.

Champion Jimmy Braddock, we read, plans two "warm up" fights before meeting Joe Louis. Jim's struggle with Louis, we take it, will be in the nature of a cooling off, for Jim.

ASHVILLE QUINT LOSES 29-21 TILT TO MILLERSPORT

Fast Fairfield County Crew Moves Fast in Second Half to Win Fray

Ashville cagers were unable to hit the hoop with any degree of consistency Saturday evening on their own court and lost to Millersport 21 to 29.

Ashville led at the half to 11 to 10, but fell by the wayside in the last two periods. Millersport is on top the fast Fairfield league.

Failure of Ashville's usually high-scoring guards to connect hurt the chances of the Kaubersmen.

The Ashville seconds won 17 to 10.

SNEAD IN FIRST IN BING CROSBY GOLF CONTEST

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 8—(UP)—The money players turned from California's golf links today with most of Bing Crosby's $3,000 tournament prizes jangling in their pockets.

Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., professional carded a low medal 68 on a rain-drenched course yesterday to win top money in the last tournament of California's winter season. He was four strokes ahead of George Von Elm of Detroit and Los Angeles, who staged a brilliant rally on the homeward nine to win second professional money.

Fay Coleman, Los Angeles pro, and Jimmy Pierce, Los Angeles, tied Snead and George M. Lewis, Los Angeles, with a 68 in the low pro-amateur best ball play.

CONTROL BOARD TO REVAMP OHIO SPORTS SET UP

COLUMBUS, Feb. 8—(UP)—A movement to revamp the administrative body of the Ohio High School Association was under way here today.

Commissioner H. R. Townsend revealed that a meeting of the State Board of control in conjunction with the State High School Principals' association would be held here March 20 to consider the feasibility of creating an athletic council of 30 members.

The proposal was advocated by the principals' association to broaden the representation of schools in administrative affairs.

In place of the present six district boards of three members each, the bodies would be increased to five members each to make up the council's membership.

The proportionate representation between Class "A" and Class "B" schools on the district boards would then be abolished and the members drawn from schools of varying sizes.

(1)—One to 6 students; (2)—7 to 120 students; (3)—121 to 225 students; (4)—226 to 400 students; (5)—401 students or more.

If the state board of control acts favorably on the proposal at the March meeting, the plan will be submitted to member schools for a vote.

The proposed plan is similar to one followed by scholastic athletic associations in Iowa, Indiana and Michigan.

new contract with the National Aeronautical Association, governing body of aviation in the United States.

Cleveland has been host to the races five of the last eight years. The races went once to Chicago and once to Los Angeles during the eight-year period.

A determining factor in awarding of the contract was the $3,341,499 WPA improvement of Cleveland airport. The Cleveland field is considered the finest in the country for the national program.

With the expanded area provided by the WPA project, the races and exhibitions may be staged on one side of the field without interfering with transport liners which almost constantly are taking off and landing at the port.

About This And That In Many Sports

Delay in Draw Necessary

On games scheduled in the county next Friday evening will depend who plays in the annual tournament opening the next weekend — School moguls, using good judgment, have decided to "seed" four teams in the boys' race — Scioto, Ashville and Pickaway are the top three but who the fourth will be is not certain; breaks one way or the other might make either Perry, Williamsport, Jackson or New Holland the fourth to be "seeded"—Under the plan of the school leaders Teams No. 1 and 3 will be put in one bracket and Nos. 2 and 4 in the other—How they will decide which is No. 1 and No. 2 is a question since Scioto and Ashville are tied as a result of Williamsport's big upset last Friday . . . .

Scioto, Ashville Should Win

Scioto plays Walnut, victor in only four games, Friday, while Ashville meets a fairly strong opponent, Monroe, IF Monroe is clicking . . . .

Fourth Girls' 6 Uncertain

The girls' race is not decided either with Pickaway, Scioto and Ashville standing on top in this division the same as the boys' class—Pickaway standing on top in this division the same as in the boys' class—Pickaway takes on a tough foe, Perry township, on the Atlanta court next Friday, and might find its hopes for undisputed possession of The Herald's trophy blasted—Perry is battling for the fourth position in the tournament with Darby as its chief foe — According to figures checked Saturday Perry has won 8 and lost 3 and Darby has won 7 and lost 3—Ashville lassies cannot drop any lower since the boys play Monroe, the Five Points school having no girls' team — Scioto plays Walnut on the Commercial Point court, in what should be a good contest although Walnut is definitely out of the tournament . . . .

All Eyes on Atlanta

The eyes of the county will be on the Pickaway-Perry girls' contest which may decide possession of The Herald trophy . . . .

Telephones Kept Busy

Telephones in The Herald office were kept busy all day Saturday by county cage fans interested in the outcome of the Williamsport-Scioto game — Few believed, before the contest, that the Deer Creek lads had a chance — They head rumors Saturday that the unexpected had taken place, and were busy verifying the upset — Williamsport was "on" and Scioto was "off" is the apparent answer to the game — The Deer Creek lads play a driving game and with a determination that could not be denied "went to town" — Scioto youngsters say they would like to meet Williamsport in the first game of the tournament—Would the fur fly?

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

"CAMILLE," with Greta Garbo and Robert Taylor as its sensational co-starring team, brings mutual distinction to Hollywood two most glamorous stars.

The picture from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios opened yesterday at the Cliftona Theatre, beginning a three day engagement. George Cukor, the director of "Romeo and Juliet," again displays the genius of his power in his superb direction of "Camille."

The notable supporting cast includes Lionel Barrymore, Elizabeth Allan, Jessie Ralph, Henry Daniell, Lenore Urie and Laura Hope Crews, and there is not a performance among the group that does not deserve praise.

The Dumas love classic of "The Lady of the Camellias" provides a peculiar brilliant vehicle for the glamorous Garbo. She gives an unforgettable intensity to the most dramatic role of her brilliant career. Taylor, whose amazing success in a brief two years on the screen has made him an international figure, comes into his own as a dramatic actor of rare talent in the exacting role of Armand.

AT THE CIRCLE

Director Frank Lloyd spent weeks trying to find a rare old volume of "The Book of Common Prayer and the Administrations of the Sacraments of the Church of England." It contains a prayer that Charles Laughton, as Captain Bligh, delivers in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Mutiny on the Bounty," now showing at the Circle theatre. A volume, which originally reposed in the library of "Rich, Houghton, Liverpool, 1763" was finally located. Director Lloyd offered it to Laughton but the British star waved it aside. He knew the ancient prayer by heart and recited it verbatim.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

CONTRACT BRIDGE

A BAD BLUNDER

DECLARERS are more liable to make bad mistakes on the opening lead than at any other time. Probably this is because they do not sufficiently study the best subsequent procedure, just as South did in his play to the first trick. His hasty play of his own cards to that trick cost him an easy small slam, and yet South ordinarily played his cards unusually well.

- ♠ Q 3
♥ A 7 4 2
♦ K J 9 8 7 5
♣ A K 9 8 6 4 2
- ♠ 10 7
♥ Q 8 7 6 4
♦ Q J 9 8 3
♣ None
- ♠ A 9
♦ 10

Bidding went: South, 1-Spade; North, 2-Clubs; South, 2-Spades; North, 3-Diamonds; South, 4-Spades; North, 6-Spades, ending bidding.

The opening lead was the only one that might wreck declarer's chances. Sometimes astute defenders do that sort of thing. West led the 2 of clubs, his fifth best, low, expecting to find East held either four clubs or a singleton, but East ruffed. South played the 10.

A return lead of either red suit by East would have allowed declarer to fulfill his contract, by having dummy ruff two hearts, while declarer ruffed two diamonds. The balance of the tricks would have been a spread. Instead of doing this for South, East made the one lead which aided West in defeating the contract. East led his J of spades. That prevented declarer from ruffing more than a single heart. If declarer did that his only exit from dummy was by leading the Ace of diamonds, and ruffing himself in. Further entry to dummy was barred and declarer found himself with a losing heart at the end.

Had declarer thought clearly he would have seen that his Ace of clubs, not the 10 must go on the first trick. Regardless of what East led back he then would have fulfilled his contract. Suppose declarer played his Ace of clubs when East ruffed, and suppose that East led the J of spades. The trump return then cannot defeat the contract.

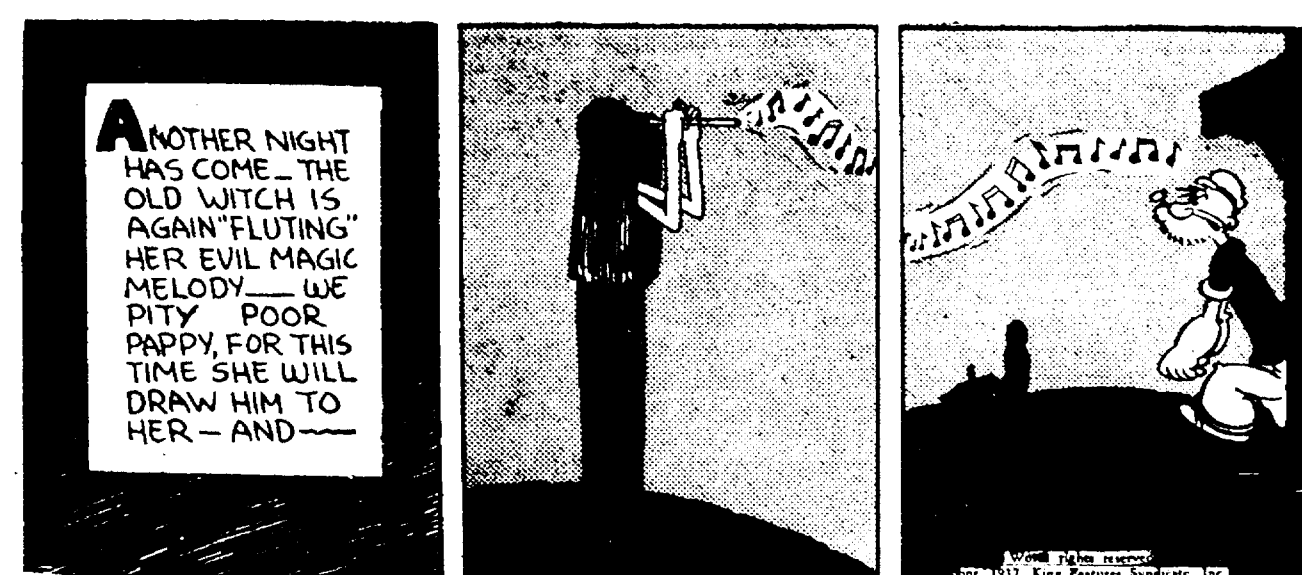

Let dummy's Q win the return trump lead. Lead off dummy's only heart. With declarer's Ace. Ruff a second lead of hearts, using dummy's last trump. Lead the Ace of diamonds. Have declarer ruff the second lead of diamonds. Pick up the last two outstanding trumps. Then lead declarer's 10 of clubs. Overtake with dummy's J, if West plays low, or overtake with dummy's K of clubs, in case West goes crazy and covers the 10 with his Q. In either case there will remain in dummy a good club upon which to declare declarer's last possible loser, giving South his small slam without fail.

PICKAWAY AFFECTED BY PROPOSED PLAN TO REDISTRICT ENTIRE STATE

SIX COUNTIES MAY BE JOINED IN DISTRICT 8

Summit and Cuyahoga Men Offer Measures to Add to Ohio Delegation

NEITHER IS GERRYMANDER

Two Solons to be Added Under Program

Pickaway county, long affiliated with Ross, Fairfield, Hocking and Perry counties in the Eleventh Ohio congressional district, will find itself in District No. 8 with seven counties if redistricting bills now in the Ohio house is approved.

The county would be lined up with Ross, Fairfield, Hocking, Perry, Fayette, Greene and Madison counties.

Two redistricting measures have been filed in the legislature, one by George J. Harter of Summit county and the other by Otto J. Bartunek of Cuyahoga county. The bills would give the state 24 districts instead of the 22 now allotted. Cuyahoga county would have four congressmen instead of two with a fifth representing Lake and Geauga counties.

Population Increased

Neither measure is a true gerrymander designed specifically to give the Democrats advantage. They seek primarily to provide representation on a basis of increased population in the north-eastern part of the state.

The last redistricting was effected in 1913 under a Democratic administration. Although it was designed to give the Democrats an advantage, Republicans refused to disturb the arrangement later when they won control of the legislature.

But before Republicans accepted the Democratic redistricting, they passed a new redistricting bill which was defeated by popular vote. A gerrymander, it sought to give the Republicans an advantage.

Besides establishing four complete districts in Cuyahoga county, the Harter bill would make a separate district of Summit county, and transfer Lorain and Portage, now linked with Summit in the fourteenth district, to the thirteenth district.

Mahoning and Trumbull would be retained to comprise the nineteenth district, Ashtabula being taken from the district and combined with Portage, Lake and Geauga to form a new twenty-fourth district. Lake and Geauga now are combined with a part of Cuyahoga to form the twenty-second district.

The Bartunek bill, drawn and sponsored by the Cleveland Citizens' committee, proposes radical changes in all 22 present districts, except the first and second (Hamilton county) which would be unaltered.

Father's Breath Saves Life of Baby

RUBIN GREAVES, 38, New York City apartment house superintendent, is seen in this picture thankfully kissing his 18-months-old son, Reginald, a short time after he had saved the infant's life. Roused by the baby's cries in the early morning, Rubin found the child's face distorted with agony and turning blue. The child had stopped breathing when Greaves, placing his hand over his son's mouth, breathed into his nose and dislodged the obstruction that had clogged the baby's throat. His prompt action saved his son's life.

big-circulation newspapers of the great Rothermere chain.

In the Daily Express, the chief newspaper of the rival Beaverbrook chain, there were two adjoining first page articles on the royal family situation.

One was in agreement with general feeling—that certain members of the royal family will provide for the duke and that parliament will not be asked to appropriate money for him. The express report was that a trust fund of $1,500,000 would be set up for the duke, or his possible widow or children. That sum, at 5 percent, would bring $75,000 a year, or in gift deed trusts funds at 3½ percent $52,500 a year.

Rest Provided King

The second dispatch in the Express concerned King George VI personally. It was that arrangements were being made to relieve the king of all unnecessary work so that he might conserve his energies for the heavy duties ahead. The Duke of Gloucester (elder of his younger brothers) would take over many official functions, the Express said, and also, immediately before and after the coronation, the king would take several days' complete rest.

"These close in touch with the court emphasize that the king is not ill," said the Express. "But his eagerness in the past has resulted in his taking more tasks than he could perform without risk to his health."

The article added that the Durbar, at which the king is to be crowned emperor of India, would not be held until next year, and that if he visited Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa as tentatively planned the visits would be spread over several years.

There was no mention of any possible connection of the dispatches in the Mirror and Express, all concerning the royal family intimately.

United Press information has been that though the royal family are most desirous to see the duke refrain from marrying Mrs. Simpson, the princess royal really went to Ensenfeld to discuss finances with him. It seems certain that unless there is a chance of sentiment the government will not desire to provide for him because of the prospect of strong parliamentary opposition.
